Press Release

Ready Roast Nut Company produces a whole new line of almond butter for use in the baking, snack, and confectionery industries

Created and tested by industry professionals, Ready Roast's almond butter has an exceptional taste that will melt in your mouth

Madera, CA, September 1, 2009: Ready Roast Nut Company, located in Madera, CA, just came out with a new line of almond butter for sale this year. As an industrial supplier and custom processor of roasted and manufactured tree nuts, Ready Roast has been serving the dairy, snack food, bakery and confectionery industries with exceptional quality and service since 2006.

Their normal product list consists of a variety of sliced, diced, seasoned, oil and dry roasted tree nuts. The new almond butter was developed by Ready Roast Nut Company's personnel of industry experts and professionals, seeking to satisfy the growing demand for almond ingredients in the baking and confectionery industries. Ready Roast's almond butter is the perfect ingredient for cookies, breads, cakes and bars. It can also be used as a spread or in cream filled centers. Its healthy nutritional profile will add to the consumer appeal of any product. Right now, the almond butter is mainly being sold in quantities of 40 pound pails; however, it can also be packed in 55 gallon drums. A variety of different roasts and flavors are available, as well as a full organic line.

Love the idea of nut butters in your confections or baked goods? Ask a Ready Roast Sales Representative about the upcoming release of their pistachio, cashew, and macadamia butters. At Ready Roast Nut Company, the customer always comes first. Ready Roast will do whatever necessary to meet the specific product specifications your company is looking for.
